The resource persons for this course were very good. The schedule for the lectures should be discussed with the resource persons before starting the course. Dates and time should be given to the students in the beginning of the course so that the students can plan it accordingly (no one should miss it due to other planned work).

For the drafting skills, one or two basic drafting assignments should be given to the students that it will give an idea.

Thank you.

No suggestions... It is very adequate and content...

It's a very great opportunity for me to do this course. It will help me in my future practice.

Apart from syllabus subjects need to spread more knowledge from judges, advocates on their court skills.

Please try to teach at least one draft with your course of skills

No suggestions

It's already nice and well structured and there is no need to improve

Law will tell the basics of the subject

I think additional information may be added.

This facilitated the researchers and scholars to study on different subjects. We have made available this platform wherein they can publish their research articles on different legal as well as social topics.

We are thankful to the advisory board for their valuable suggestions. I appreciate the efforts taken by the members of the editorial committee. We are also thankful to the management of our institute especially Smt. Pramila Gaikwad for supporting us to publish this journal. We look forward to researchers contributing research articles to this journal.

We are thankful to the advisory board for their valuable suggestions. I appreciate the efforts taken by the members of the editorial committee. We are also thankful to the management of our institute especially Smt. Pramila Gaikwad for supporting us to publish the third issue of this journal. We look forward to researchers contributing research articles to this journal.

Copyright law vis-à-vis Freedom of Speech and Expression in Relation to Technological Protection Measures Under Copyright Act, 1957: A Critical Study of the Interface

Dr. Shampa Dev*

Dr. Avishek Chakraborty

1. Introduction

The modern history of human civilization shows us that we have always treasured the freedom of speech. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights marks the freedom of speech and expression as a right that is integral to the enjoyment of all other rights. The right of an author to benefit from the protection of the moral and material interests resulting from his or her scientific, literary or artistic productions is enshrined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 1948 and International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, 1966. Copyright is a form of property, the right to protection of which is guaranteed by various human rights instruments and/or national constitutions. It is argued that constitutional or human rights protection for copyright may flow from its ability to promote the same interests that are safeguarded by freedom of expression. Constitution of India, 1950, by virtue of Art. 19(1) (a) guarantees fundamental right to freedom of speech and expression. Copyright furthers democratic discourse by providing rights that enable independent writers and artists to make a living from their expression.¹

Copyright law seeks to achieve balance with respect to creativity by providing two-fold protection. It protects the interests of the creators of content for a limited period of time, allowing them to monopolize their creation. At the same time, it protects the interests of the society at large by giving access to such content. Copyright and freedom of expression have been viewed as harmonious and complementary concepts. Ensuring Dignity to Manual Scavengers – Legal Mechanism and Social Reality

Abstract :

In 21st century the practice of manual scavenging exists in India and it is the ground reality of our social set up. It is very sad to see that such inhuman practice still exist in India after 72 years of independence. The practice of manual scavenging is derogatory to the dignity of any human being which results into the violation of human rights. The advancement of technology, science and even an artificial intelligence does not help to eradicate such inhuman practice from the society. It means, despite the introduction of several mechanized systems of sewage cleaning, human intervention in the process still continues. The people of backward class and lower income group who don't have any alternative involved into such practice. Though our country is a developing country and progressing in every field but failed to eradicate such inhuman and degrading practice of untouchability. In this article researcher tries to discuss the social set up and various factors responsible for manual scavenging and its effect. The researcher also analyses the legislative mechanism and judicial decisions with an intention to find out the major lacunas in the existing legislative framework.

mechanism^s

Key Words: Manual Scavenging, Human Rights, Untouchability, Caste, Varna System etc.

Introduction :

Manual scavenging practice exists in India from the Vedic period which violates the fundamental rights of sanitation workers and government failed to protect their fundamental rights which are guaranteed under Part III of Indian Constitution. Constitution of India strictly prohibits any kind of untouchability¹ but when we talk about manual scavenging we observed that it is a caste based occupation. It means particular community compelled to do this inhuman work which includes to clean septic tanks or sewer tanks with bare hands and if they failed to do such work they faced to violence, discrimination, starvation and social boycott. So for their daily rozi roti they have to work such inhuman practice. They denied employment in other fields because of their caste stigma. It passes on from generation to generation. Culture of acceptance prevailing among them is also depriving them of their basic rights.

Meaning of Manual Scavenging :

The General meaning of manual scavenging is to clean human excreta and other waste products manually with their bare hands from insanitary latrines, open pits, sewer tanks, ¹Art. 17, the Constitution of India.

section of the society. Indian judiciary is the custodian of rights of common man including the deprived class of the society. Through liberal interpretation, the judiciary always tried to achieve the concept of social welfare. The liberal interpretation of Art. 21 opens the Pandora box of various rights and that is the reason Art. 21 is termed as colourless article or residuary article. With regard to judicial response towards the manual scavenging recently courts have adopted strict attitude towards the manual scavenging and pulled up the State authorities for failing to eliminate such heinous practice from the society.

In landmark case *Safai Karmachari Andolan v. Union of India*¹³, the Apex Court acknowledges the menace of manual scavenging in India as an inhuman, degrading and undignified profession. The Apex Court observed that PEMSR Act, 2013 and EMSCDL Act, 1993 neither dilutes constitutional mandate of Art. 17 nor it does condone inaction on the part of Union and State Government under EMSCDL Act, 1993. The Apex Court held that the PEMSAR Act, 2013 expressly acknowledges Art. 17 and 21 of the Constitution as the rights of person engaged in sewage cleans and cleaning septic tanks as well person cleaning human excreta on railway tracks.

The Supreme Court finally stressed on the rehabilitation of manual scavenging in accordance with Part IV of PEMSR Act, 2013. The Supreme Court directed the State Government and Union Territories to fully implement various provisions of PEMSAR Act 2013 and take appropriate action for non-implementation as well as violation of provisions contained in PEMSAR Act, 2013.

Conclusion

From above discussion we can say that the State and local bodies are found to be guilty for not establishing, maintaining sewage system, septic tank and failed in ensuring protection and security of manual scavengers. India is developing country and specially in a modern age, practice of manual scavenging is very shameful for our country. We all as a society should raise voice against such inhuman practice which is making some person among us to clean septic tank or human excreta manually without any regards to their safety and letting them to die. On the other hand we turn out our faces to avoid such disgusting sights without even realizing that some people are cleaning tank for us to keep us healthy. This is the violation of human rights and it's time to take cognizance of such inhuman practice to lead them dignified life.

Media Trial in India: Is there a Need to Regulate the Press

Introduction

The media is regarded as the fourth pillar of any democracy. An independent media is necessary for keeping a check on the government and its organs. But with the increasing corporatisation of media and the race to grab more eyeballs for higher numbers, the media is overstepping its boundaries. It has been witnessed that the media pronounces its own verdict before the trial begins and ends up violating the principles of a fair trial. The accused persons are held guilty in the eyes of the public before a verdict is delivered in open court. Also, the sensationalism by media affects judges as they are human beings and the public opinion created by the media is bound to have an effect on them. It's a high time that media should be self-restrained. Moreover, public participation in polity is also being advocated to create a balance between a fair trial and independent media.

Media as a fourth Pillar of Democracy

The merit of the democratic system is that it gives freedom of expression to every individual. Whereas media is used to aware about various social, political and economic activities, media is like a mirror to the world which reflects the true and harsh realities of the world, as media is being trusted by everyone and people always trust actual and honest news. The main purpose of the media is to provide the accurate news to all types of views in front of people but the truth is not always shown by the media which to people suffers and at last it losses democracy. The media has been receiving number of contracts involving the shares transfer between the media and non-media companies and which results to show the disguised news, this can be termed as the paid news syndrome.¹

India is the biggest market in the world of media and in the fourth pillar of democracy with more than 100,000 registered newspapers and more than 892 televisions news channels running all over India in different languages and these numbers are still counting day by day, now-a-days inspite of this social media platforms are also there namely Facebook, WhatsApp, Twitter and many more, mainly these are inclined towards showing the Entertainment, news, sports event, current affairs, politics or the corporate advertisement.

¹ Available at : <http://www.legalserviceindia.com/legal/article-3487-media-fourth-pillar-of-democracy.html> (last visited on 13.12.2020)

trials have only served to help the people in only very few instances but that does not happen in all the cases, thus it is necessary to have restrictions imposed on it.

Media should maintain its code of laws and ethics, social responsibility and credibility by not interfering in the matters of court so early. Instead, Media should do the research, keep a check on high profile cases, find the evidences and keep it to them until and unless they find the truth suppressing. Only then it can serve its function as forth pillar of the democracy.

Suggestions may added in the Article.

i) Govt. of India shall be pass complete Act for suppressing the Media trial & provide adequate punishment in that Act.

ii) Two case laws ^{shall be} added
a) Rega Chakrabarti case. (what's up chat)
i) Anwar Goswami case (what's up chat).

iii) Scope of Art 19(2) shall be expanded.

iv) Also scope of the Contempt of Court Act shall be extended relating to Contempt by an "Electronic Media."

The author deserves appreciation for taking socially flaming topic i.e., 'Legal Aspects relating to E-Banking: Recent Developments'. However, I would like to make certain suggestions in the interest of the author and I hope that he would comply with the following suggestions.

1. The word an 'Abstract' instead of 'Introduction' should be written because abstract means summarizing the highlights of the research paper and is meant to provide enough information so that the total research paper can be understood easily by interpreting only 250 to 300 words of abstract as it is prescribed.
2. Page No. should be given.
3. Moreover, it is highly appropriate and required for the author to discuss more relating to the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, the IT Act, 2000 etc., and the right of privacy under the article 21 of the Indian Constitution.

The standard of the research Paper is Satisfactory

The scholar deserves all appreciation for picking up socially appropriate topic fraught with socio economic and legal implications i.e., 'Protection of Consumer Welfare is an Imperative Goal: An Analysis of the Role of Competition Act, 2002 and the Protection of Consumers in India'. III. Constructive Role of Judiciary and Legislature In Data Protection Laws In India - An Overview

The author deserves all appreciation for taking socially apposite topic i.e. 'Constructive Role of Judiciary and Legislature in Data Protection Laws in India - An Overview'. However, I would like to make certain suggestions in the interest of the author and I hope that he would comply with the following suggestions.

1. An 'Abstract' of the research paper in the beginning is to be required because it summarizes the highlights of the research paper and is meant to provide enough information so that the total research paper can be understood easily by interpreting only 250 to 300 words of abstract as it is prescribed.
2. Every foot note shall consists of name & author of the book, title of the journal/article, year of publication/edition and name of the publisher including its page No., wherever there is a foot note as a reference to a statement, the source of that statement should be mentioned.
3. Page No. should be given.

The standard of the research Paper is acceptable and its ok.
